

ToyMakerz Season Two Set to Air on Velocity

Big boys love their big toys. This is what people are learning as ToyMakerz begins its new season. The second season will feature eight parts that are one hour each, and will begin on November 10, 2017 on Velocity at 8 p.m. and 11 p.m. with re-airs on Saturdays at 10 a.m. EST. ToyMakerz is for those who like exotic, rare toys of the vehicular variety. Driven by the life and creations of David Ankin, owner of ToyMakerz, the series follows his team as they bring unrivaled ingenuity and a unique skill set to motorized builds.

"I'm grateful that we had such a well-received first season and we are looking forward to an even better second season," says Dave Ankin, inventor and star of the hit show ToyMakerz.

Ankin is a former stuntman who used to perform with motorcycles, racecars, and at Universal Studios in the Water World shows. Today, he has become recognized and earned praise for the eccentric one-of-kind racing machines that he's built. His motorized creations are bringing dreams of speed to life for millions of men and women.

In addition to the show airing, Ankin will be revealing one of his latest creations called the "Beast" at the SEMA convention, which takes place at the Las Vegas Convention Center from October 31, 2017 through November 3, 2017. The SEMA trade show focuses on the latest in automotive specialty products and is only open to those in the industry, bringing in some 70,000 plus domestic and international buyers per year.

The ToyMakerz "Beast" vehicle will be located in the MagnaFlow booth #61028 in the Silver Lots at the front of Central Hall. Ankin will be in great company this year as Jay Leno, Chip Foose, Dave Kindig, and Aaron Kaufman will also be displaying vehicles for MagnaFlow at this year's SEMA event. Ankin will be doing daily appearances at the MagnaFlow booth all week.

Eric Harryman, CEO of the Los Angeles-based production company Lucky13Cinematic, is the executive producer and series creator that is proud to share that last season's re-runs are currently in their 4th airing and are still showing significant growth.

"First, I'm a ToyMaker and this show is for the ToyMakerz in us all. I wanted to develop a series that would be based on a subject matter I love, that my peers love, supported by a great cast and led by a personality like David Ankin, that could carry the show into multiple seasons," says Harryman.

There is a heavy buzz around the new season kicking off as Ankin and team have truly out done themselves with this season's custom creations! Episode one starts off with a nearly 800 horsepower ride! ToyMakerz airs on the Velocity network weekly, every Friday at 8 p.m. and 11 p.m. EST; with a third airing the following Saturday at 10:00 a.m. EST.
